Beta Sigma Chapter
Issue October

President's Message:

Well, since our last newsletter we had Marsha Brewer come from Nashville to help us learn more about our personalities. We had a great time and learned a lot about ourselves and our Beta Sigma sisters. I thank her for her graciousness in traveling so far and sharing her knowledge with us. Because this newsletter issue will be a little late, we've also had our fall Harvest cookout. It was literally freezing, but luckily the fire finally heated up and kept us warm. Thank you to Michele Burgess for hosting us at her farm. You are awesomeness! The holiday season is fast approaching. For December, we will forego a traditional meeting and share in a community service project. The plan is to decorate the new coffee shop in Bolivar for the holidays. The coffee shop is the mission of The Nehemiah Project. They don't have a huge budget and we can help them while also serving our community. I think we'll have fun, too!

A recent, unexpected passing in my family, has reminded me of some important life lessons. My mother often says, she is "saving something for good". However, I've decided that the good is NOW. Don't save it; enjoy it now. Don't wait for a special time; now is the special time. Enjoy family, friends, and fur babies now. Let them know how special they are. Forget about petty issues or tedious details that won't matter much in a few months. Focus on the good and the really important things. It has long been my belief that God put us on Earth to love and to help each other. So, it is my goal to try do this each day and I hope that some of these words might encourage you to remember the specialness of each moment with those we love. I appreciate and love all of you, my Beta Sigma sisters. I pray that you will have a holiday filled with blessings.

And.... Carpe diem!

Best always,
Angela
